THE CLASS SONG

To the dear old school we love so well,
A farewell song of cheer
Although we're leaving her behind
Our memory lingers here.

We've found its been a stepping stone
To History and Fame,
So when her walls have tumbled down
We'll love you just the same.

We'll love you just the same old school
We'll love you just the same
And when your walls have tumbled down
We'll love you just the same.

And so we say good-bye to friends
And teachers all so dear,
We finish to begin old school
For we learned it all right here.

Not at the top, but climbing,
We'll soon be on our way
What we've achieved in this dear school
Will come back to her some day.

We'll love you just the same old school.
We'll love you just the same
And when your walls have tumbled down,
We'll love you just the same.

Tune: "Auld Lang Syne"

We're Not At The Top

By Ruby Hubbard

As we leave dear old H. H. S.
Our places others will fill.
'We're not at the top, but climbing'
Our memory will linger still.

For four years we've been on our way
Just a start to be a success.
We're facing the world of tomorrow
Hoping to gain the best.

We've got the future before us
Let's never attempt to stop
But face the world with bravery
We'll climb till we get to the top.

PROPHECY OF CLASS OF '41

It was a rare spring twilight, the azure haze of the sky was not marred by a single cloud; beautiful flowers were blooming everywhere; the birds were drowsily calling to their mates from their nests; but there was something on our mind that kept us from enjoying these beauties of nature.

Suddenly, we were startled by something lightly tapping on the floor near our feet. We were so astonished that we could not speak. In a few seconds it left, leaving a magic mirror lying at our feet. As we gazed into it, amazed at what we saw, the scenes were changing swiftly. But from the first we recognized the miniature figures as our classmates in the years to come. This is what we saw:

DATE 1951

Faye Deel has joined the Salvation Army. She and her husband are doing many kind deeds of mercy among the poor unfortunate people.

Arthur Nash is professor of English at Coker University and his many friends in Honaker are proud of the honors he has received.

Oma Fletcher has a large school of dancing and expression. This is patronized by the wealthy class at Blackford and is considered the best in the United States.

Thurman Hughes is football coach at the University of Virginia.

Virginia Russ is the honorable writer of "A Successful Life" appearing weekly in the "Honaker Herald" advising young girls on all affairs of love, courtship, marriage and divorce.

Junior Robinson, because of his clear, distinct voice, has secured a position as "Hog Caller" in "Pumpkin Center."

Ralph Johnson runs a beauty parlor in Swords Creek, Va. His specialty is "Henna Shampoo," which he invented himself. His red hair is much admired by the ladies and he does a flourishing business.

Ada Stump has been made famous by her book entitled "How to Acquire a Slender Figure."

Dorothy Dye, after many years of faithful work, has been promoted to the position of floor-walker at Ben Franklin Store.

Jimmy Musick and Billy Sykes, having won in a contest for the most handsome men in America, have gone to Hollywood where they are quite the rage.

Claude Griffith, after many years of patient labor, has gone into the hot-dog business. He has one of the most up-to-date stands in Gardner.

Edna Stump has just been announced world's champion woman boxer. We might have known Edna could swing a wicked right.

Seda Shepherd is the world's greatest opera singer. She appears on the Kate Smith hour, weekly over station "PUNK."

Castina Smith, a famous typist, has just burned up two typewriters. Such speed is incredible.

Edna Call, after many tries to catch a husband, finally has been successful. The lucky (?) guy is Carol Davis.

Stanley Sykes is assistant-manager of Mr. Andy Harmon's (grandfather of Josephine Stacy) griss-mill on Little River.

Ruby Plaster is the most famous doctor now engaged in this work in Southwest Virginia. We knew her intelligence would lead her to success.

Minnie Honaker has become the world's most famous spiritualist. She travels in her little car, visiting all the important cities, namely, Artrip, Honaker, Drill, and Pumpkin Center.

Elwood Jackson, a famous commentator, has taken Lowell Thomas' place.

A. P. Holliday has won the title of Champion Billiard Player in Virginia.

Sonny Clark is in the real estate business. One of the most successful deals that he has put across is the leasing, for an indefinite length of time, a portion of property on Drug Store Hill.

Stella Barrett is the joint owner of "Price and Barrett" Ten Cent Store in Glade Springs. Nothing over 98c.

Nell Ruth Johnson is the author of the new Revised Edition of Uncle Samuel Johnson's dictionary.

Loedio Helton is doing her daily routine work as the housewife of Mr. Paul Smith.

Elizabeth Stump has accomplished the purpose that she was trying to gain when writing PVT. on so many letters during her last year in High School.

Don Sample has received a patent on his latest invention, "The Sawmill Clipper."

William Wallace, an electrician, is in the "Old Soldiers' Home" recovering from a broken heart.

Clyde Stump is the chief opponent of Mayor LaGuardia of New York in the coming election.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gant are running a nursery on the Ebbie's Knob. The Missus is the former Betty Miller.

Earnest Honaker is the head chief on the "Sawmill Clipper," one of the largest U. S. airliners recently built by Mr. Don Samples.

Blanche Robinson and Kathleen Miller have embarked on the Ship of Happiness and set sail upon the calm and peaceful(???) sea of Matrimony.

Lorene Hart is owner of Green Fly Inn at Finney.

Snoda Cook has won fame and fortune as editor of a fun magazine known as the "Daily Blab."

Josephine Stacy is living in a little cottage on the Tunnel, calling the roll for the Sykes children to come to supper.

Mattie Evans is second "Kiser Bill."

Justine Plaster is now serving a life sentence in Sing Sing Prison for deliberately murdering the English language.

Ruby Hubbard is a missionary in China. She has had several narrow escapes from bandits.

Glen Wilson is considered one of the best dancing masters of the age; he has a large studio at Finney.

Mildred Barrett is the best secretary ever employed by George Belcher, wealthy business man, and she is always on time — wonder why??

Clara Boyd is a famous lecturer and will soon make public appearances in New York, Los Angeles, Chicago and other important cities.

June Smith, after five unsuccessful attempts, has at last fished a sailor from the sea.

Wilbur Davis has just been appointed U. S. Ambassador to Germany.

Helen Herndon and Marie Fletcher are famous secret service workers. They have just rounded up one of the worst criminal gangs of the underworld.

Anna Jackson and Charlie McCarthy are touring around the world, making personal appearances. Anna is taking the place of Edgar Bergen, who was murdered by Charlie. Although it is a dangerous expedition, we are looking for her back safe and sound.

Robert Honaker has left for Hollywood where he will play as Rhett Butler in a modern production of "Gone With the Wind." It is reported that Miss Jean Hess will play the role of Scarlett O'Hara.

Gladys Boyd is employed by the "Big Top Circus" as fortune teller.

Trula Smith is employed as air hostess on the new streamlined train "The Honaker Special."

Irene Jessee is a very conceited housewife on "Cracher's Neck." All the history she knew didn't do her much good.

Lois Barrett and Callie Harmon are the only old maids of the '41 class as they were jilted soon after the commencement. Their memories are not forgotten as Lois cherishes a locket of long ago with a beautiful picture of Elwood Jackson in it, a treasure of years gone by. The pangs of their solitary existence are offset by their substitutes for men; namely, a lamp that smokes, a parrot that swears and a cat that stays out nights.

As the last picture faded away, a loud noise brought us back into the world of mortals. It was nothing but the howling of a dog. We sat upright trying to comprehend what we had just seen. We realized, at last, that we had fallen asleep while musing over our troubles and had by so doing, dreamed away our worries.

Vote for her for Sheriff and she'll turn you loose.

We pity some poor, good hearted man.
Edna Call courts every Saturday and Sunday,
She surely is struck on Mr. Bundy.

Helen Herndon is always in style,
You can plainly tell her by her smile.
Irene Jessee is a favorite of us all
She has done many useful things large and small.
Castina Smith is a second Miss Tate,
But for typing class she's always late.
Blanche Robinson is quite a kid,
We wonder how many biscuits she's hid.
Oma Fletcher is happy though the weather be stormy,
She's got a good looking boy friend in the army.
Mattie Evans is a star of the basketball team,
When she stops a goal we're bound to scream.
Nell Ruth Johnson isn't very tall
She's a star of the team in basketball.
Josephine Stacy has a good "Stan"
She's one of the leaders of the Senior Band.
Loedio Helton, we must confess,
Wears a smile for everyone at H. H. S.
Faye Deel is tall, but sweet,
She would knock any man off his feet.

HISTORY OF SCHOOL

Education started in Honaker about the year 1830 in a one-room log building which stood near where the B. J. Fuller home now stands.

From then on we can trace by county records some three or four such schools, in different places, within a few miles area, until in the early 1880's there was established in what is now Old Honaker, a school called an Acadamy, partly supported by the county and partly by fees charged the pupils.

Later the school was moved to a one room building just east of where the Methodist church now stands, where school was held for several years, until in the late '90's a three story building was built by private capital on the lot now containing the building used as the N. Y. A. center, the building itself being the old dining room and girl's dormitory of The Old Dominion College.

This school was housed in quite a large building, the first two floors being used as class rooms and study halls, and the upper story as a boy's dormitory. This school was also supported partly by the county, and partly by fees, and was known far and wide as The Old Dominion College.

After operating several years this school fell back to a one room school again, though by then the teaching staff had been increased to two teachers.

About 1906, with a Mr. Kibler as principal, the first attempt at a graded school was begun, and the next year a Mr. Hamlet made improvements.

Meanwhile a large sawmill having been located at Putnam the brick building on Fairmont had been built containing several rooms, and became the district's first high school, though not recognized by the state as such until 1911-12 when the graduates numbered 3.

This building, with several additions, served until in the late 20's, agitation was started for a new building, and after many ups and downs, the present building was erected and session of 1930-31 was in the building now occupied though it to has been enlarged since first built.

Since it has been in the present location, the principals have been E. E. Givens, A. A. Countiss, Roger Butt and Lynn Moore.
